SOW

“Overwatch Advanced Concept Technology Demonstration (ACTD)” Statement of Work

1.0 The contractor shall provide acquisition technical support to the Overwatch Advanced Concept Technology Demonstration (ACTD) with regards to the formulation and execution of plans for the Battle Management Command, Control, Communications, Computers, and Intelligence (BMC4I) suite capabilities. Also within the scope of this task, the contractor will assist* in the development, test, support, and analyses of electronic hardware, optics, and software to promote interoperability/integration of current and future BMC4I technologies as they apply to the operational utility of Overwatch in a joint environment.

*Note: The actual development of software and/or system components is prohibited under this task order.

2.0 Requirements

2.1 The contractor shall conduct research, collect data, and assess network challenges associated with integrating BMC4I systems and Overwatch. These challenges shall address network centric considerations for current and future operational environments. Research shall include force benefit and integration issues and requires collaboration with a variety of government and private agencies.

2.2 The contractor shall advise the Government pertaining to BMC4I applications required to support battlefield awareness, command and control, and fire support efforts related to the Overwatch ACTD. This includes ongoing information exchange and decision support requirements and challenges associated with Army Battlefield Command and Tactical Operation Centers.

2.3 The contractor shall provide documentation and facilitate technical related discussions in support of Overwatch Integrated Project/Concept Teams (IPT/ICT), Concepts of Operations (CONOPS), and exercise plans.
