Community votes for cable; work in progress

By Barbara Johnson

The community said yes, they are willing to pay, and USAKA/KMR is moving ahead on plans to cable the island for TV and radio.

"It appears that there is pretty widespread support at the community level [for CATV]," said Lt. Col. Steve Morris, USAKA/KMR operations assistant chief of staff. "When he saw the results, the commander said, 'Ok, we know what we want, go back and see if we can make it happen.'"

Last month, residents of Kwaj and Roi responded to surveys asking if they would pay for CATV and upgraded Internet service. Altogether, 453 residents replied, and, overall, 71 percent said they would pay an average of $21.04 a month for CATV.

"[That average number] is what we will use to figure the revenue to offset the operating costs," Morris said.

Positive responses were lower for Internet upgrades, with 43 percent overall saying they would pay for 56KBS Internet, and 47 percent for 128KBS Internet. They would spend an average of $17.42 and $22.96, respectively, for the two high-speed Internet options.

"The interesting thing was that people were mostly happy with the [Internet] service they get for free now," Morris said, adding that although upgrading the Internet may not be done now, upgrading may take place in the future if more residents want it.

When and if the island gets cable upgrades depends on results of a

SMDC's Dorsey allies with Kwaj

DCSOPS visits island

By Jim Bennett
Editor

Kwajalein has a new friend.

Lt. Col. (promotable) Rick Dorsey, deputy chief of staff operations at the U.S. Army Space and Missile Defense Command, visited last week.

"I needed to come here to get a full appreciation of what goes on out here," Dorsey said. "I have now experienced it, rather than heard about it in e-mails. You'll always have an ally in Huntsville."

Dorsey, who also serves as force protection officer for the command, took over the staff job 3½ months ago and came to Kwajalein as one of several people visiting for an anti-terrorism assessment.

"The range is not a Bosnia," Dorsey said. "You don't have security issues peak everyday. It's in the intel briefings and such."

As deputy chief of staff for operations and force protection officer, Dorsey helps coordinate efforts between the range and the Department of the Army, Pacific and Pacific Command.

"My coming here does not prevent the great folks of Kwajalein from coordinating directly with DoA, Pacific or PACOM," he said. "We're here to support Kwajalein."

Community calendar published monthly

From Staff Reports

Not sure what's coming up in the next 90 days? The Hourglass has you covered.

On the suggestion of Col. Curtis L. Wrenn Jr., USAKA/KMR commander, the Hourglass now will publish a 90-day calendar the first week of every month. (See pages 6-7.)

The calendar can be torn out and posted on the fridge, or just filed somewhere for later reference.

To have information posted in the calendar, contact USAKA/KMR Public Affairs at 51098.

90-day snapshot ... three questions ... and a Hooah!

As of Oct. 27, it has been 90 days for my short tenure as commander, and I continue to be impressed by the caliber and quality of both people and the community.

I appreciate the warm welcome my wife and I have received. I especially enjoy meeting and talking to many of you. Generally, there are three questions most often asked, and I will share them with you.

First, "How do you like Kwajalein?" Well, generally five days a week I feel as though I should return a portion of my pay. I can't believe the Army pays me to do this job! The job offers a new challenge every day. This is such a diverse operation. Also, the entertainment options are endless. But, there are those other two days when it is sheer frustration.

There isn't enough money. I've got too much direction from higher headquarters and there are three competing events scheduled simultaneously. On these days I stroll to the window, look out at the ocean and weigh the question ... the Pentagon or Kwajalein? Instantly I'm reminded that I've got it good.

The second most asked question is "How does your wife like Kwajalein?" Well, just being with me makes life grand for Sheila (ha!), so I'd have to tell you she loves it. Does that sound conceited ... and will I pay a hefty price for saying it?! No, she is a typical Army wife ... a great lady who makes a home for her husband and family where ever duty calls. Sheila is volunteering at Queen of Peace Elementary school on Ebeye, working with the other Army wives and enjoying various recreational activities ... (when she's not hosting some event that I forgot to tell her about until the last minute!) Bottom line ... she really enjoys life here at Kwajalein.

The third most often asked question is my favorite. "Sir, what does Hooah mean?"

Well, it means everything ... and it means nothing. Hooah, (pronounced who-uh) is an expletive (not obscenity) uttered by soldiers as an affirmation, salutation, proclamation, ovation or question. It is a word to fill out a sentence. Example: The boss issues an order and you acknowledge Hooah!

In the soldier's mind, his or her Hooah! to the boss means:

1. That's the dumbest thing I ever heard but will execute anyway.
2. I don't understand, won't admit it, but will acknowledge the order and ask someone else for clarification.
3. I understand and will comply. ("Wilco" for civilians.)
4. Enthusiastic gesture just so the boss acknowledges your presence and the fact that you're a team-player.

So, you see, Hooah! can mean a lot of things, but I prefer to use it in a positive, can-do, affirmative manner. As you come across someone in the community today or tomorrow, greet them with a big Hooah! for me.

You have the right to write

If you have a communitywide issue to raise, perhaps you should write a letter to the editor. Keep your verbage to less than 300 words, and keep your comments to the issues. Letters must be signed. We will edit for AP Style and, if you exceed the word limit, space. Please limit yourself to one letter every 30 days, to give other readers a chance to write.

Send your letter to:

survey by an off-island cabling company and the operating and startup costs.

"We won't know that until we look at the numbers [from the survey]," Morris said. But all the cable conduit already put under the new roads will save a lot of time and money."

Cabling the island will affect more than just the viewing habits of residents.

If the island is cabled, it will drastically change the way Central Pacific Network does business, said Craig McCarraher, CPN chief engineer.

CPN won't have to staff the office 24 hours a day, although someone would be on call.

McCarraher said Kwaj would get at least nine channels, which would include six stations from AFRTS, all that they offer worldwide; one AFN station, which we now get on Channel 9, delayed 13 hours; possibly one 24-hour weather radar channel; and 24 hours of the local "roller," updated periodically. Kwaj would also get 10 radio stations. All signals would be on 24 hours a day.

"There was very wide support for inclusion of the Discovery channel in addition to the AFRTS channels,"

Morris said. "If we can make this happen, we need to include [Discovery]."

Another major factor in the upgrade is the cost saving to CPN. "The initial investment for CPN would be large, but the cost saving in the long run would be huge," McCarraher said.

The up-front cost would be new distribution equipment for the cable channels.

Another factor, according to McCarraher, is that fewer transmitters would be needed. Because AFRTS is the commander's hotline in case of emergency, a minimum of one radio and one TV station would be broadcast over a transmitter so they could be heard by someone without access to a cable — at the beach, on a boat or at Ebeye, for example.

AFRTS plans to add two more stations sometime in 2001-2002, McCarraher added, so they would be automatically added to our lineup at that time. Stations being considered are another Spectrum channel for movies, a cartoon channel and a sports channel.

Survey results varied by location and tour status. On Kwaj, 73 percent of respondents would pay for CATV, while Roi-Namur had a lower 46 percent who would pay for CATV.

Unaccompanied residents would support CATV at 73 percent, while accompanied residents weighed in slightly lower at 68 percent.

"The coming months will be planning and analysis," Morris said. "We got a loud and clear message [from the community] that we have to do it right, if we're going to do it."

Kom ruwainene

"Kom ruwainene" is the Marshallese way to say, "Welcome."

Recently arrived from Tucson, Ariz., are Jim and Susan O'Connor. Jim, retired U.S. Air Force major, is here as site lead for Raytheon Missile Systems. He has visited Kwaj TDY four times in the past two years.

The O'Connors say, "We can't wait to get started on sailing, snorkeling and new crafts projects."

Stephanie (Cline) and John Finley
Cline and Finley wed

Stephanie Cline and John Finley were joined in marriage Friday, Oct. 13, at Island Memorial Chapel.

Merrie Beth Schad served as maid of honor and Kai Kalahiki was the best man.

The bride's parents, Mr. Buck and Trish Cline, of Hawaii, attended the ceremony, as well.

A reception was held Oct. 14, at Coral Sands Beach.

After a honeymoon trip to Pohnpei, the couple will resume their work as firefighter/emergency medical technicians with the USAKA/KMR Fire Department.

The couple, both of Virginia Beach, Va., came to Kwajalein in June.

Stork Club News

Maurice and Jeanetta Robinson announce the birth of Malayah Jeaniece Robinson on Aug. 29, 2000. She weighed 5 pounds, 9 ounces, and was 17½ inches long. Malayah was born at Tripler Army Medical Center in Honolulu and arrived at Kwaj on Oct. 12.

Duarte scores hole-in-one

From Staff Reports

When Howard "Tako Man" Duarte teed off at the fourth hole Sunday during the "Japan Open," he knew he'd made a good shot. He didn't know he'd scored a hole-in-one.

"I hit the ball and knew that it was gonna be on the green, and with my three previous holes being bogeyed, I figured that maybe it was time for me to at least survive with a par hole," Duarte said. "As it was early morning, there were tree shadows right over the pin placement and I couldn't see the final roll of the ball."

The final roll landed in the cup, 176 yards away.

"I couldn't see any ball on the green, and my first thought was that I over-shot the green," he said. "Well, I checked the entire area over the green and didn't find my ball. So, as a last resort, I looked into the hole and 'Olé,' there it was, my ball with my marking on it."

"I was really overjoyed 'cause, first of all, this was my first hole-in-one, and secondly, I felt all the more excited 'cause there were quite a number of fellow golfers with the Japan Open group that have played the game for 20 to 30 years and haven't scored an ace hole-in-one yet. So it made for a very special moment."

Fellow golfers Lott Lawson, Terry Hardy and Harry Lockett rounded out the foursome and witnessed the shot.

The Japan Open is played weekly by 35 to 40 local avid golfers, Lawson said. Though membership has changed over the years, the group has played for about 30 years.

"When Howard made his hole-in-one we had a small group of about 24 folks playing, due to the club championship being played," Lawson said. "It was lucky for Howard, as it is traditional for whom-ever makes a hole-in-one to buy drinks for his fellow players. Howard got off cheap."

Said Duarte, "It was a small price to pay for the excitement."

KGA Championship fields narrow to four

By Jim Bennett
Editor

The Kwajalein Golf Association club championship is down to the final four in both men's and women's competition.

Andy Frase will face Russell Beniamina, while Rudy Gil Sr. will play Brad Morton Sunday.

On the women's side, Debbie Thomas will play Selentina Beniamina, and Linda Schuett will play Pam Goranson.

The winners Sunday will join the winning men Monday in a foursome that will determine the men's and women's champions.

Sixteen men and eight women faced off this Sunday to narrow the field for the final matches.

According to Jeff Jones, tournament organizer, to qualify for the tournament, men had to post one of the top sixteen scores over two weekends, Oct. 15-16 and Oct. 22-23. The cutoff score was 79, though because of scheduling conflicts a few qualifiers had to drop out of the competition, opening the door for some who posted 80s.

The qualifiers were seeded according to scores and played head-to-head, single-elimination match play Sunday. The eight survivors from Sunday's competition played Monday.

Monday, Frase beat Daryl Jones. Beniamina defeated John Robertson. Gil overcame Shawn Tayloe, and Morton edged past Tracy Hampson.

Meanwhile, eight women qualified with scores of 103 or less. Sunday, Thomas beat Brenda Panton, while Beniamina got past Jane Crane. Schuett knocked off Shirley Smith, and Goranson took out Sophia Gordon. The women had Monday off.

Getting ready for this year's drive, Marsha Roberts, producer of Rector-Roberts Productions' "Letters from the Front: WWII," holds just a few of the thousands of letters entered into last year's Letters to the Front letter-writing contest that were sent to service men and women overseas.

WASHINGTON — The Defense Commissary Agency is once again teaming with the producers of a popular show touring U.S. military bases to ramp up support for a holiday letter-writing campaign.

Producers of the show "Letters from the Front: World War II," which has been touring overseas military bases for three years, came up with the idea of a letter-writing contest after their contact with American troops.

Organizers said they were "struck by the feeling of loneliness and estrangement expressed by many of those we met during our travels."

The contest runs through Nov. 11. Letters must be between 100 and 150 words long and begin with, "Dear Service Member, I just want to say thanks for ..."

Visit the contest Web site at www.letters-from-the-front.com for information, complete rules and downloadable entry forms.

Prizes will be awarded in three age groups: under 12, 12-18 and over 19. The two grand-prize winners under 19 will receive $3,000 scholarships; the adult grand-prize winner will receive a $3,000 computer system.

After the contest ends, the letters are forwarded to U.S. service members serving overseas. Last year American troops received thousands of letters through this contest, organizers said. "My entire platoon ... read your letter," wrote back one soldier from Camp Bondsteel, Kosovo. "It changed our outlook and brightened our day."

A noncommissioned officer stationed on Korea's demilitarized zone wrote to the organizers and called the contest a good idea because "not only does it lift a soldier's spirits ... so far from home, but it gets the next generation to take an interest in the people defending their country."
