Everything we have is owed to them

Five were captured and tortured before they died. Two lost their sons in battle. Nine died from wounds received on the battlefield. One ordered his artillerymen to destroy his own home where enemy troops were headquartered. Thirteen of them lost all of their property and everything they owned and died in poverty. One lost his wife to the war and his 13 children were taken by the enemy, never to be seen by him again.

That's what happened to some of the men who were among the 56 who signed the most important and courageous document in the history of the world on July 4, 1776 — the Declaration of Independence. To the cause of freedom they pledged, "our lives, our fortunes and our sacred honor."

Most of them had wealth and education. They were blessed with comfort and security. They could have lived out their lives without worry. But they valued something else more than comfort and riches. They valued freedom and they had a vision.

In the eight long and dark years of the American Revolutionary War, more than 10,000 men who believed in the dream of a free country and thought life with liberty was worth dying for paid the ultimate price to purchase freedom for future generations of people who would be called Americans.

The men who signed the Declaration of Independence, the men who gave us that brilliant document called the constitution, and the 'ordinary' men who suffered through horrific battles, defeat after defeat, and who endured places such as Valley Forge, gave you and me a free and independent America.

If those men had not had the wisdom, vision and courage to risk death by becoming traitors to their government, the United States of America would not exist today. Just think about that. We take so many of our freedoms for granted and we shouldn't.

The Way I See It

Dan Adler,
Staff Writer

It's a shame that most Americans don't know what the men who gave us our country endured. How many of us know the names of the men who signed that piece of paper? I know I don't.

This Fourth of July, when you're enjoying a barbecue, a day at the beach or the fireworks, take a moment and say thank you to those brave and noble people who sacrificed so much for our liberty a short 230 years ago.

We owe everything we have and everything we are to them.

Have a safe and happy Independence Day.

Boom!

PBQ demolition scheduled Friday, dining services, hospital temporarily relocated

By Nell M. Drumheller
Editor

The downtown area, covering 76 facilities, will be evacuated and offices closed Thursday and Friday for the explosive reduction of the Pacific Bachelor Quarters.

Thursday's evacuation will support a test blast, fine-tuning the process prior to Friday's 168-stick dynamite explosion.

Monte Craven, of U.S. Army Kwajalein Atoll's Public Works outlined the timeline:

Dust Perimeter From 7 a.m. to noon, Thursday – an approximate 681-foot exterior hazard area around the PBQ will be evacuated by Kwajalein Police Department, Kwajalein Fire Department and some of the 82nd Engineer Support Company for the test shot. The test shot is expected to take place within the window from 9 to 10 a.m.

Exterior Hazard Zone

Interior Hazard Zone

“Assuming all goes as planned and the commander [COL Beverly Stipe, USAKA] gives the ok,” Craven said that the plan is to proceed toward the final detonation on Friday.

Between noon Thursday and 7 a.m. Friday there will be an approximate 200-foot interior hazard area from the PBQ. This area will remain evacuated for explosive loading of the columns.

Friday has been dubbed the explosives loading and explosive reduction day.

Craven identified the tentative timeframe and evacuation distance as from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. at a distance

"Again, this is a tentative plan; if something goes wrong these times could be extended," Craven said.

Seven Soldiers from the 29th Engineer Battalion and 7th Engineer Detachment will stand the perimeter guard Thursday night according to Capt. Moses Moreno, KPD deputy chief of police.

Soldiers along with personnel from KPD and Kwajalein Fire Department will conduct a room-by-room inspection of buildings in the evacuation area to ensure everyone gets out.

"We request the cooperation from the community to ensure the safety of all our community residents. Safety is paramount," Moreno said.

"Kwajalein Range Services Public Works personnel will complete an interior and exterior visual pre-blast and post-blast inspection of all facilities within an 83' radius for the test blast. A pre-blast inspection will be completed for those buildings between the 83-foot and 200-foot radius and a post-blast inspection will be completed of all facilities within the 200-foot radius after the primary explosive reduction," Craven said.

Following the final explosion, KRS Public Works personnel will ensure the evacuated buildings are safe for return. "A visual inspection of the interior and exterior of the buildings will be completed after the explosions. As part of the visual process, they will restart the air conditioning systems, randomly turning on electrical systems/equipment and water fixtures throughout the facilities," Craven said.

"Random checks will also be made through suspended ceiling panels in areas where the true ceiling is not visible. Please remember that we do not expect any major, nor even minor damage to any of the facilities. As discussed in the previous article, all we expect is the possible damage to some windows, which we have covered with plywood to prevent any breakage, and dust. All this is based on the size and timing of the explosive charges being detonated, the relative small size of the structure, the added protection we are installing over the blast site and the many precautionary measures we are taking during the actual blasts," Craven added.

"Safety issues related to the building fall zone, fragmentation, overpressure, ground shock, ejected dust and safe clearing distances in general have been addressed and coordinated with the U.S. Army Technical Center for Explosives Safety and the Defense Department Explosives Safety Board. If we did not have the utmost confidence that this operation can be conducted safely in regard to the public, we would not be doing it," Billy Traweek, USAKA Range Safety said.

The extensive evacuation plan will affect where people eat, shop, sleep and receive medical care, as well as the ebb and flow of mail.

KRS Dining Services will provide meals for meal-card holders at the multi-purpose room on Thursday and Friday. Breakfast will be from 5 to 7 a.m. with lunch from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Meal-card holders have two options for dinner on Thursday. There will be a 'big blast' steak cookout at Emon Beach from 6 to 7:30 p.m. or a boxed meal from 4:30 to 6 p.m. in the multi-purpose room. Beer and wine will be available for purchase at the Emon Beach meal. The Dock Security Checkpoint

Snack Bar will be open normal hours.

Thursday night Bingo has been moved to the multi-purpose room with card sales beginning at 6:30 p.m. and play set for 7:30 p.m.

The Sunrise Bakery will be closed on Thursday and Friday, so cake orders are not available.

All mail arriving will be held in shipping and receiving until July 8.

The laundry, vending, Tape Escape and beauty salon will be closed both days. "We hope this won't negatively affect the community. On the plus side, anyone renting a movie on Wednesday will be able to keep it until the July 8 without any late fees provided they return it promptly on the 8th. I hope the community takes advantage of these two extra days to rent a bunch of movies to watch during this time off," Mike Goumas, KRS Retail Services said.

The hospital will be closed for patient services beginning at 6:30 a.m. on Thursday. "All hospital personnel will be evacuated from the hospital and adjacent buildings no later than 7 a.m.," Dr. Eric Lindborg, chief medical officer said. "No personnel will stay in the hospital or adjacent service buildings. Limited access to the hospital may be available with appropriate clearance if there is need for any critical supplies/equipment."

"A temporary emergency room/urgent care site will be set up at the elementary school administration building [Building 368]. Emergency and urgent walk-in patients will be evaluated and given basic care at this site. We will plan to staff this site continuously throughout the day and night. Basic ER and acute care equipment/supplies will be set up here. We will plan to forward hospital phones to this site and assess the possibility of continuing with some basic administrative functions in the school building during hospital closure," Lindborg said. He added that the hospital will be open throughout the day on July 8.

He advised, "Anyone with a true emergency should call 911, as usual, for acute medical problems."

Residents of the Ocean and Shell bachelor quarters will be displaced on Thursday, returning to their quarters after the all clear on Friday. "There is a contingency plan in place for residents in the Palm, Reef and Sands. We would assign beds from vacant houses and trailers if needed," Flynn Gideon, KRS Housing said.

“All residents affected received notification under their door to contact housing,” Gideon said. “We will call each resident in the Ocean and Shell to give them room assignments and request they pick up keys on Wednesday,” He added. “We will provide a room key, linens and towels.” For more housing information, BQ residents should call 53450, 53201 or 53593.

The actual blast on Friday may be anti-climatic.

“It is important to understand that the demolition of the PBQ is not going to be like an explosive demolition we are all familiar with from TV; one big blast and the whole building collapses into a big pile of rubble,” Craven said. “We are utilizing explosives in this demolition to partially lower the structure so that it can be safely demolished with the heavy mechanical equipment and to achieve cost savings in the demolition operation. Only the first floor columns of the PBQ are going to be exploded, with the upper two floors then simply falling down one story in height. Again, we are not planning for, nor expecting the second and third floors to collapse in a ‘pancake effect’ as we have seen on TV,” Craven said.

After the second and third floors have been mechanically collapsed, debris will be removed using heavy equipment. The demolition of the PBQ, i.e. the actual process of collapsing the building, will be a work in progress that is expected to extend into early August.

Each stage of the evacuation and blast process will be forewarned through the loud speaker system and the Siren Warning System, according to Traweck.

Dust from the concrete will be present after the blast and may be seen at distances of approximately 1,000 feet depending on the prevailing winds. “Residents within the 1,000-foot arc are advised to either go indoors and remain there from the time the imminent detonation is heard and until the all clear is announced, or position themselves up-wind of the PBQ. The direction and velocity of the wind will be considered before the final decision to detonate the explosives will be made,” Traweck said.

Sirens:

The special mission siren is a 10-second blast followed by a four-second pause, followed by another 10-second blast followed by a two-minute pause. This cycle will involve two iterations. The next type of siren used will be the evacuate-to-shelters siren. It consists of a warbled siren lasting three continuous minutes. It will announce an eminent detonation will occur within one hour, and will sound again to announce an eminent detonation within five minutes. The final siren will be the familiar all clear siren which is one 20-second continuous blast.

One man's trash not always another's treasure

Bargain Bazaar needs usable items donated

By J.J. Klein
Reporter

To the women volunteering at the Bargain Bazaar, it seems that people on Kwajalein are a bit confused lately; they keep mistaking the thrift shop for the burn pile.

The team of volunteers at the Bargain Bazaar, run by the Yokwe Yuk Women's Club, is always eager to accept donated used items, but lately these contributions are a little too worse for the wear.

"Some of the items we have been receiving lately are not suitable to be sold, they are either stained with all types of fluids, broken or missing pieces or just worn out," according to Charlene Kuzy, the Bargain Bazaar manager. "When an item is not saleable we have to haul it out to the dumpster after all the time has been spent to pickup and sort the items."

Although there are no specific donation guidelines, the staff at the Bargain Bazaar asks that people use common sense when considering a donation. "My guidelines for donating would be items that are not stained, broken and dirty or just worn out. Don't put dirty toys or shoes in with good clothes, separate the items in bags. Please make sure the boxes and bags are not overloaded, sometimes there is only one person doing the pickups," said Kuzy. "If a person has to ask if this item will sell or not, then more than likely it won't."

Step into the Bargain Bazaar, browse around to your heart's delight and you are bound to find golf clubs, bowling balls, swimming gear, household products, paperback books, cook books, and games. The staff is having difficulty merchandising the golf clubs and bowling balls, hurry down and you just might get a deal. Operating hours for the Bargain Bazaar are 11 a.m.-1 p.m., Monday; 4:30-6:30 p.m., Wednesday; 1-3p.m., Thursday and 1-3 p.m., Saturday. All it takes is a telephone call to arrange a donation picked up from your home; the telephone number to call is 53686.

"This year the Bargain Bazaar donated $17,000 to the school fund, thanks to all the donations from the community and the hard work that was put in from the volunteers," said Kuzy.

One hundred percent of the proceeds made at the Bargain Bazaar are turned around and used as grants given to Micronesian schools for supplies and scholarships and to buy presents for the outer island Christmas drops. Items that are unusable and cannot be resold at the Bargain Bazaar result in shrinking profits for the thrift shop and dwindling contributions to the Micronesian community.

Bottom line — sometimes one man's trash is just that, trash.

Bargain Bazaar volunteer, Mary Kulig, searches for usable items in a bag of donated clothing.

Marshallese guest student gets guaranteed spot for U.S. Coast Guard's summer program

By J.J. Klein
Reporter

Playing basketball and hanging out with friends is a typical way to spend summer vacation for a teenager. Jefferson Bobo is no exception; that is until July 12, when he will participate in the U.S. Coast Guard Academy summer program.

Bobo, a Marshallese student with the guest student program and senior at Kwajalein Junior/Senior High School, will be the first Marshallese student to attend the Academy Introduction Mission program at the USCGA in New London, Conn. under the new Compact of Free Association.

Even more impressive, Bobo managed to secure a limited, coveted guaranteed slot in the summer program. "I took a look at Jefferson's transcript and based on his performance thus far, I am offering him a guaranteed spot," said Lt. Jeffrey Platt, USCGA admissions counselor. "This is a great honor as we typically only give 25 to 30 students a year a guaranteed appointment to AIM."

Acceptance into AIM is based on leadership potential, academic record, athleticism and exhibiting the core values of integrity, honesty and respect for others.

"Jeff is rather 'unexcitable' in his demeanor, but I could tell he was genuinely looking forward to his summer adventure," said Jaime Bowers, guidance counselor at the High School. "I have never seen him beaming like that."

Bobo is an active member of the Honor Society and the president of the Marshall Islands Club. "Jeff is one of the good guys," said Barbara Biccianich, his French teacher at the high school.

Bashful about tooting his own horn, Bobo is quick to smile and his eyes light up when talking about the Carlos Christmas Drop project sponsored by the Marshall Islands Club. During the Christmas season the high school club travels to Carlos Island to perform a show and distribute Christmas presents to the children. "My job was to translate and help Mr. Barbella and Mr. Fullerton," said Bobo, "and give them suggestions about what would be expected at a Marshallese event, let them know what would be awkward in the Marshallese culture."

AIM is a week-long program for teens interested in exploring the academy as a post high school option. The participants are exposed to technical degree programs offered by the academy, simulated Coast Guard missions, an engineering competition and Coast Guard ship and helicopter operations, giving them opportunities to interact with cadets and faculty. The students will live the cadet life as they participate in military training, physical conditioning, marching practice and even the dreaded room inspection.

This slot at the USCGA AIM program does not come without some anxiety. Bobo admits to feeling some pressure, the pressure of having the hopes of so many people wrapped around his summer activities, as well as traveling to the U.S. solo. That is tiny compared to a quiet pride he feels at having so many recognize his potential.

The Ambassador to the RMI Greta Morris is credited with bringing attention to the Compact of Free Association stipulation that permits the attendance of a qualified RMI citizen to the USCGA. She tasked the U.S. Army Kwajalein Atoll Host Nation Activities staff to find a willing and qualified applicant. They contacted Bowers who without delay supplied them with Bobo's name. Noda Lojkar, representative of the government of the RMI, came on board with RMI support for Bobo, acting as a go-between Bobo's family and the Host Nation office.

Just when it seemed Bobo's participation in the summer program was signed, sealed and delivered, his plans hit a major snag. Due to a personnel change at the academy, Bobo's scholarship application for travel expenses to AIM slipped through the cracks, missing the deadline. Bobo would have to wave goodbye to this opportunity if he could not come up with money for a $2,036 plane ticket.

Unwilling to see this opportunity for Bobo go to waste, the RMI and the Kwajalein communities pulled together to assist this teenager with so much potential. Purse strings opened and funds from the Majuro Chamber of Commerce and the Jinetiptip Club, as well as, private donations from Morris and COL. Beverly Stipe, USAKA Commander, made their way to Bobo. The largest contribution came in the form of a $1,000 scholarship from the Yokwe Yuk Women's Club, bringing the total to $2,000 and ensuring Bobo's attendance at the USCGA. Possibility is now reality.

The Ringer. A guy trying to do the right thing ends up taking part in one of the most morally dubious con games in history in this comedy. Steve Barker (Johnny Knoxville) is an office drone who wants to move up the corporate ladder, but when he asks his boss for a promotion, it comes with a condition — Steve has to fire Stavi (Luis Avalos), who has been the firm's janitor for years. Steve decides to soften the blow by hiring Stavi to do his lawn and garden work. However, an accident robs Stavi of several of his fingers, and since he doesn't have medical insurance, Steve needs to find a way to pay for his surgery. Steve's uncle Gary (Brian Cox), a sleazy type who will bet on anything, also needs some fast cash, and comes up with a get-rich-quick scheme — Steve was a track star in high school, and with the Special Olympics Championships coming up, all Steve has to do is pretend to be mentally challenged, enter the competition, and win the running events against six-time medalist Jimmy (Leonard Flowers). Gary will bet big on Steve, and the odds will allow them to clean up.

Yours, Mine and Ours. Two big families merge into one super-sized brood in this comedy. Frank Beardsley (Dennis Quaid) is a naval officer who has been raising eight children on his own after the death of his wife, and while he loves his kids, he rules his household with military precision. Frank has been alone just long enough that he decides it's time to start dating again, and he agrees to be set up on a blind date for a social function. To his surprise, his date turns out to be Helen North (Rene Russo), a girl he dated years ago when they were both in high school who, like Frank, lost her spouse not long ago. The old chemistry clicks anew for Helen and Frank, and he asks her to marry him. However, there's just a bit of a problem — Helen is caring for ten children of her own, six of whom were adopted, and her artistic temperament makes for a very different household than Frank and his kids are used to. Frank and Helen decide to give this grand experiment a try, but the 18 siblings don't get along at all well at first, until they decide to set aside their differences and unite against a common foe — their folks. Yours, Mine & Ours is a remake of a 1968 comedy of the same name, which starred Henry Fonda and Lucille Ball as the newlywed parents.

Fire department gives tips for safe travelling

USAKA Fire Department

If your off-island travel plans include traveling with infants and children, U.S. Army Kwajalein Atoll Fire and Emergency Services would like to offer the following tips for Child Safety Seats:

- 1.) Use rear-facing infant seats in the back seat from birth to at least one year and at least 20 pounds.
- 2.) Use forward-facing toddler seats in the back seat from age one and 20 pounds to about age four and 40 pounds.

3.) Use booster seats in the back seat from about age four to at least age eight unless the child is 4'9" or taller; and

4.) Use safety belts in the back seat at age eight or older and taller than 4'9".

5.) Most States have laws that require children under the age of 13 to ride in the back seat.

According to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, nine out of every 10 car seats are installed or used improperly. Follow the manufacturer's instructions for your car seat to make sure its is secure and the child is properly restrained. If you have questions or concerns about your child's safety seat, help is right down the road. Firefighter Molly Frazier is an NHTSA/DOT certified Child Safety Seat Technician. Fireworks of all sizes are banned on aircraft

FAA advisory

Travelers should leave fireworks behind when flying somewhere to celebrate Independence Day, July 4th, according to the Federal Aviation Administration.

People who bring fireworks on airplanes put themselves and fellow passengers at tremendous risk. All fireworks are banned, from cherry bombs to poppers, because friction can ignite even the smallest sparkler in the plane's pressurized atmosphere and lead to a catastrophic fire.

Because of this danger, domestic and international regulations prohibit passengers from carrying fireworks and firework novelty items in their checked or carry-on baggage, or on their persons. Those who violate the hazardous-materials regulations are subject to civil penalties of up to $50,000 per violation with a minimum fine of $250, and to criminal prosecutions of up to five years in prison with criminal fines of up to $250,000 for individuals and $500,000 for corporations.

The Transportation Security Administration's increased security screening of cargo, carry-on and checked bags is uncovering many undeclared hazardous materials that likely would not have been discovered otherwise. In past years, TSA's increased efforts have resulted in the FAA opening thousands of investigations into violations of the Hazardous Materials Regulations.

Don't be one of them!!
