Police department promotes three officers

Hey Kwaj family, help me welcome our newest officer to arrive on island, Crystal Weaver. Weaver is assigned to duties throughout the department until she completes our Officer Orientation Course. Additionally, Kwajalein Police Department is recruiting them young. Lyric Ilan Hollis (my grandson) made his grand entrance to the world on Oct. 19. He'll be on our 20-year training program, and we will look forward to his arrival sometime in the fall of 2026.

Recently we held a promotion board to fill some of the much-needed leadership positions. I want to personally commend all of the officers who presented themselves to the board, reflecting their desire to be a part of KPD's leadership team. I am proud of them all. Help me congratulate Lt. Mike Larsen, formally of our investigations section. Also promoted were Sgt. John Craddock and Cpl. Josh McDonald.

KPD is working closely with the folks in Kwajalein Range Services who are responsible for barge operations upon their arrival, now twice per month. I share their concern that especially during these operations the open area and warehouses directly to the front of the Dock Security Checkpoint, from 6th Street to 8th Street and South to Supply Road, is a hub of activity. All who work inside of this area are required by KRS to wear safety equipment to include hard hats. The problem lies in all who do not work in this area, yet use it as a thoroughfare and shortcut to get from the DSC to where ever or returning to DSC. Amazingly, this happens despite KRS' best efforts to put up bright yellow tape and barricades at selected points to avert traffic. After taking an opportunity to personally evaluate this potential problem, I am convinced it is not a matter of 'if an accident happens' it is 'when'. In the coming weeks prior to the arrival of the next barge, I will be working closely with those in KRS and the command, recommending some enforceable changes. These measures may seem a bit of an inconvenience to most at first, but I ask for your patience and understanding because the spirit of the changes will be to minimize the risk to all. More to come as details become solidified.

Until next time, be safe, be well and continue to look out for each other!

Iraqi prime minister agrees to benchmarks

By Jim Garamone
American Forces Press Service

Iraqi Prime Minister Nouri al-Maliki has agreed to benchmarks with timetables, according to a joint statement with U.S. Ambassador to Iraq Zalmay Khalilzad.

"The Iraqi government has made clear the issues that must be resolved, with timelines to take positive steps forward on behalf of the Iraqi people," the two men said in the joint statement, issued after they met today.

U.S. officials have said that benchmarks are ways to help push along ideas. Accomplishing the benchmarks is a way of measuring progress and assessing accomplishments, DoD officials said.

Khalilzad and Army Gen. George W. Casey Jr., the commander of Multinational Force Iraq, talked about benchmarks negotiated between the Iraqi government and the coalition on Oct. 24. "As they take these steps, we can produce success and bring about Iraqi self-reliance, (but) we must continue to support them," Khalilzad said at the time.

But the next day, Maliki seemed to step back from the idea of benchmarks. During a Baghdad press conference, the prime minister said he had not agreed to a timetable. "I affirm that this government represents the will of the people and no one has the right to impose a timetable on it," he said.

But now, all that seems water over the dam. "We are pleased to meet today to discuss our ongoing efforts to bring peace and security to Iraq and create a better future for all Iraqis," the two men said. "Iraq and the United States are committed to working together to respond to the needs of the people. The United States fully supports their goals and will help make them a success."

The statement recognizes that there are many difficulties in the way of establishing a democratic, free Iraq. "We know that our continued strong partnership will allow us to meet the challenges facing Iraq," the two men said in their statement.

"The United States will continue to stand by the Iraqi government, and the Iraqi government welcomes the support of the United States as it moves forward with plans for national reconciliation and the strengthening of the Iraqi security forces.

"The government of Iraq is committed to work toward a good and strong relationship with the U.S. government, to work together toward a democratic, stable Iraq and to confront the terrorist challenge in the light of strategic alliances between the two countries."

The statement did not list what the benchmarks are.

Josh Goode Band visits Kwaj enroute to Guam

Hourglass report

Lead vocalist and guitarist Josh Goode of the Josh Goode Band rocked Emon Beach on Sunday evening. The Dallas band played original music and cover rock tunes with a smattering of reggae after a delayed start due to electrical difficulties.

The next stop on the Armed Forces Entertainment tour for the band is Guam. The JGB was invited to be part of the AFE tour when it was recognized for its participation in Operation Rock the Troops. Operation Rock the Troops, an independent record organization with 39 Texas bands, sends U.S. Soldiers in Iraq and Afghanistan free compilation compact discs.

Halloween

Halloween fun includes shaving cream, costume contests, trick or treat

By J.J. Klein

Question: What goes bump in the night, glows in the dark and emits a high-pitched squeal? Answer: Frenzied Kwajalein trick or treaters going door-to-door around the island Tuesday night.

Many Kwajalein youngsters and Ebeye children, participating in the guest day sponsorship program for Halloween, focused their efforts in the dome and new housing neighborhoods for maximum candy plundering, a commonplace Halloween strategy.

“We bought six bags of candy, the really big bags,” said Kristine Larkin, a new housing resident, “and we had to buy six more. Look, it’s almost gone!” Larkin pointed to a basket three quarters empty.

Pint-sized revelers kicked off the Halloween festivities at the Shaving Cream Social at the Richardson Ravine on Friday afternoon.

The following day a Technicolor funky chicken, a.k.a. George Seitz Elementary School Principal Deb Johnson, played Pied Piper picking up children from classroom after classroom to create a costume parade made up of a long, winding chain of students. It was the first of many opportunities for students to model their Halloween costumes.

Four hundred participants, many still in their costumes from the costume parade at school, frolicked at the Halloween Costume Carnival at the Corlett Recreation Center Gym on Saturday evening. Fairy princesses, dragon ninjas and peewee pirates zigzagged from the cookie decorating station to the monster basketball station to the pumpkin walk game and then back again.

Working cooperatively, the Community Activities Department and Child Youth Services transformed the gym with the help of 29 teen volunteers from the Keystone Club and the high school National Honor Society.

Many of these teen volunteers made a Superman-like quick change after the carnival in time attend the Scary Hair Ball dance sponsored by the Teen Center. Celebrities such as J. Lo and Elvis were spotted at the dance getting their groove on.

Megan Butz, 17, sported a memorable costume dressed in a peek-a-boo hospital gown exposing a big, foam butt playing off her last name. First prize for best costume at the ball went to Robert Butler, 12, decked out as the extremely rotund, Scottish character Fat Bastard from the movie Austin Powers. He won lunch with a friend at the snack bar chaperoned by all of his favorite Child Youth Services staff members, a prize his Scottish character would have devoured.

But who said Halloween was for the young? The plethora of Kwajalein Halloween activities this weekend for the young and the young at heart proved that theory wrong, dead wrong.

Costumed families could choose to attend Family Costume Bowling or the Josh Goode Band at Emon Beach on Sunday evening. Adults could attend one or both of the Adult Costume parties held at the Veteran's Hall and the Yuk Club.

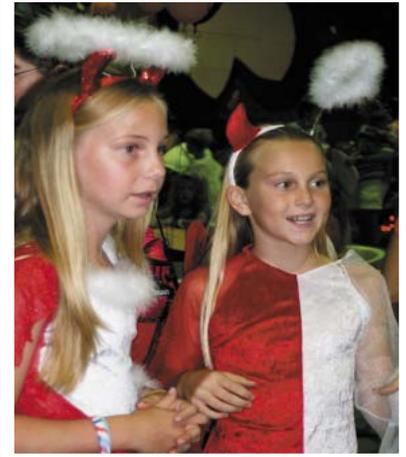

Unfortunately, they held a party at the bowling alley and no one showed up.

After two and a half hours of knocking on doors trick or treaters lugged home their cavity inducing loot to be sampled, sorted and then sampled some more. After all, it's all about the candy.

The Josh Goode Band got off to a delayed start due to electrical difficulties, but soon revved up the audience, in particular a group of costumed elementary school-age girls and boys in the 'mosh pit,' as lead singer Josh Goode often referred to it.

Unique to the waters of Kwajalein was the Kwajalein Scuba Club sponsored underwater pumpkin carving contest Monday afternoon. Divers met at Emon Beach and had to take their squash down to a depth of at least 20 feet before they could carve it. Artists' renditions ranged from a blowfish to a vomiting diver.

In the end the weekend Halloween activities culminated in the roving mobs of trick or treaters creating mischief on Halloween night and collecting candy. After two and a half hours of knocking on doors trick or treaters lugged home their cavity inducing loot to be sampled, sorted and then sampled some more. After all, it's all about the candy.

Afghan command, general staff college starts with its first class

American Forces Press Service

The Afghan Command and General Staff College held a ceremony Oct. 28 marking the start of the first class to attend the school, which teaches generals in the Afghan National Police and Afghan National Army.

“Over the next six months, you will participate in the first ever senior Command and Staff College offered by the Afghan National Army,” U.S. Army Maj. Gen. Robert Durbin, commander of Combined Security Transition Command Afghanistan, told the first class of students. “You will increase your effectiveness by improving your knowledge about the art and science of leadership and command.”

The course is modeled after the U.S. Army and NATO command and general staff colleges.

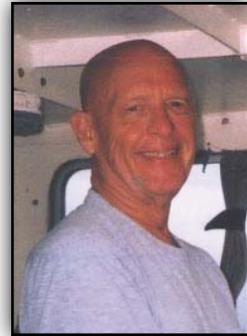

Afghan Col. Mohammad Yaqub,

an instructor at the Command and General Staff College, explained that general officers from the police and army will learn strategic thinking, interagency cooperation and overall contingency planning.

“Throughout the six months, officers, ambassadors and strategic experts will speak to the students explaining how to think about the big picture,” Yaqub said. “They will learn how to use every resource available to them and how to request additional assets from allies if the need arises.”

Durbin added, “This course of instruction will allow the Afghan National Army and Police the opportunity to see how they fit into the international political and military environment and how to effectively integrate non-governmental organizations and media with the full spectrum of military operations, from humanitarian relief to counterinsurgency.”

By Robert Gray
Kwajalein Boy Scouts

The Cub Scouts of Pack 135 recently participated in the worldwide scout event Jamboree on the Air. Scouts from around the world meet in a Jamboree on HF "HAM" radio frequencies. This weekend local scouts were able to talk with scouts from Arizona, California, The Battleship Missouri (HI), Australia and Japan. Randy Young from the Amateur Radio Club operated the station and also demonstrated other skills such as Morse Code and PSK31 (Teletype).

At their October pack meeting the scouts met to race their homemade rocket ship creations in the Space Derby. First, Second and Third place winners from the various dens are listed in order below:

Webelos: Matt Madore, Logan Everts, John Sholar; Bears: Noah Gray, David Sholar, Chris Kulig
Tigers: Dawson Wiley, Kaikane Busquets, Ben Jahnke
