

Sponge spicules to blame for itchy feet in pools

fter several residents complained to Community Activities about feeling itchy after swimming in both the Adult and Family Pools, an investigation was headed up by CA and Liquid Systems. On Feb. 19, samples were taken from the empty Family Pool. In addition to very small seashells and bivalves, numerous sponge spicules were discovered.

Sponge spicules are structural elements—skeletons—found in most sponges. Because sponges do not need light to survive but do require a constant flow of water and oxygen, it is likely that they live quite abundantly in the pool intake pipes. When the Family and Adult Pools underwent construction last year, these pipes went without water flow for months causing the sponges to die from lack of oxygen. Now that the water is turned back on, the skeletons of those sponges are being swept into the pools, settling on the bottom.

Discomfort due to spicule contact should resolve without treatment in one-two days, and should not require medical attention. If necessary, the same type of topical applications and over the counter treatments used for skin itch or irritation would be expected to help with resolution of symptoms. Risk due to ingestion of spicules is not a concern unless someone drinks a significant volume of water from the pool directly.

Suggestions to prevent discomfort include wearing booties or reef shoes if you plan to be walking around in the pool. It is also suggested that you stay away from the water jets.

The spicule concentration in the pools is expected to resolve itself over time. Because the intake pipes are long, it will take some time for the spicules to flush out.

As a reminder, both pools are salt-water flow-through pools

Sponge spicules under a microscope. Spicules are to blame for itchiness in Kwajalein pools. in which water is continuously pumped in through the intake pipe and out through the pools' drains and gutters. Both pools receive a small amount of chlorine daily for sanitation purposes. Many factors can affect the pool and water clarity such as weather, tides, algae blooms and even power outages. Pools are drained and cleaned once a week to help combat these factors. The pools are pressure washed once per week and the water used to clean is drained before the pool is refilled. Pool ropes are made from marine grade polypropylene material.

WHAT BOATERS, DIVERS NEED TO REMEMBER WHEN THEY FIND OBJECTS IN OCEAN WATERS

HOURGLASS REPORTS

Thile boating, snorkeling or diving, remember the three Rs if you encounter an object that may be unexploded ordnance (UXO) or other unknown hazard:

RECOGNIZE – Remember from your Island Orientation and EOD literature and recognize potential UXO or unknown potentially hazardous objects. If you are unsure, treat as a possible threat.

RETREAT – In order to best protect people, let qualified personnel handle the removal of the object.

Don't ever touch or bring back an unknown object found in the water.

See UXO, page 12

GEN. MARTIN DEMPSEY SPEAKS TO USAG-KA RESIDENTS AT TOWN HALL MEETING FEB. 21

ARTICLE BY SHEILA GIDEON MANAGING EDITOR

J.S. Army Garrison-Kwajalein Atoll Command hosted a town hall meeting Feb. 21 in honor of the 18th Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff Gen. Martin Dempsey's visit. The town hall was held at the open air Island Memorial Chapel and was attended by USAG-KA residents, the U.S. Ambassador to the Republic of the Marshall Islands Thomas Armbruster and RMI Liaison to USAG-KA Lanny Kabua.

USAG-KA Commander Col. Nestor Sadler introduced Dempsey to the audience. "It is my distinct honor and privilege to introduce the 18th Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, General Martin Dempsey, along with his wife Deanie Dempsey. Any time a small place like Kwajalein gets the honor to host such big-time guests like the Dempseys, it is truly special," Sadler said.

The chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff is the nation's highest-ranking military officer and serves as the principle military advisor to the President, the U.S. Secretary of Defense, the National Security Council and the Homeland Security Council. The chairman is nominated by the President for appointment and must be confirmed via majority vote by the Senate. Dempsey, a New Jersey native, is a 1974 graduate of West Point Military Academy and has more than 40 years of military service.

"We're here for one reason and one reason only," Dempsey said, "and that is to tell you thanks for being out here." Dempsey said that in his 40 years of military service, he and Deanie have had the privilege of working in some austere locations, including a few that were tough to pronounce, something which Kwajalein residents could relate to. In his service overseas, they met incredible friends while contributing to important missions.

"You know what you do, and some of us know what you do, but now I know better what you do. But, I just want to thank you for doing it," he said to the roughly 200 Soldiers, civilians and contractors in attendance. "Coming here now to have a chance to interact with you really is something we've looked forward to. I didn't know what to expect when we showed up here today, but I can tell you that you'll have a friend in the 18th chairman ... for the time remaining to us on active duty."

Deanie took a few minutes to thank the workforce for what they do. "We're thrilled that we could get a chance to come see all of you and tell you in person how much we appreciate what you do."

Dempsey opened the town hall for questions. Topics included the U.S. rebalance to the Pacific, personnel management and benefits for civilian workers, the national defense budget and the ISIL threat.

Dempsey departed following the town hall, continuing his trip to Australia where he is meeting with Australian government officials as part of the focus on the U.S. rebalance to the Pacific region.

Variety Show raises money for good cause, entertains

ARTICLE AND PHOTOS BY SHEILA GIDEON MANAGING EDITOR

he Keystone Club hosted a Variety Show Sunday as a fundraiser for longtime Kwajalein resident Callie Chavana, who is currently hospitalized in Honolulu. The show featured singers, dancers, comedians and an array of musicians. While the event was a thoughtful gesture organized in part to help fund the Chavana family's medical costs, the show also provided an evening of entertainment for Kwajalein families and friends.

Some performers were recognized from their participation in other island shows such as the recent Kaleidoscope of Music. Although some had seen and heard Christine Abragan and Danielle Rivera before, their performances Sunday were just as exciting.

One newcomer to the stage included piano player and singer Amber Tippetts. MC Auguston Lelet said, "I don't know much about her, but I do know she plays piano gracefully and sings beautifully."

Daisy Wiltrout was also a new performer. She sang her first song in public, "One Day."

One of the most memorable and fun performances of the night was the Acapella Mash-up by Lelet brothers Angelo, Auguston and Logan with friend Dash Alfred. Singing in harmonies sans backup music, their performance included snippets of recognizable songs such as "All About That Bass," "For the Longest Time" and "Life is a Highway." Sixth-grader Logan wowed the crowd with his mega-low final note in "Ring of Fire."

Group performances were aplenty, including an interesting musical number by the senior girls entitled, "Kwajalein's Got Talent." Yes, the three judges scored them a perfect 10, but it was obvious the system was rigged: The girls had just learned to play their instruments only a few days prior. Good for a laugh, bad for the ears.

Another fun song was a throwback to days at Kwajalein Elementary. Seven girls took the stage with their rainbow-colored posterboards and sang the "Color Song." It was a Kwaj Kid favorite, and many in the audience sang along. There was also a verbal spelling quiz for the audience at the end of the song.

Junior High students Mackenzie Gowans, Christina Jones and Audrey Whatcott performed their original number, "Stand Proud." The girls wrote both the lyrics and music that emulated a positive message about self-confidence.

The finale was a group number that showcased a dance-off between a group of four boys and four girls At a certain point, their wardrobes were mixed up and they came on stage dressed in the opposite gender's clothing. The performance was comical, and their dance skills impressed.

Some of the crowd favorites of the annual Variety Show are the AFN commercial skits. This year, the Keystone Club acted out memorable favorites: timing your VA benefits, family advocacy, honesty: pass it on, and sharing posts on social media.

Fishermen reel in prizes at Wahoo-Mahi tourney

ARTICLE BY TRUDY BUTLER KAISC VICE PRESIDENT

wajalein anglers spent the morning and afternoon hours of Feb. 16 trolling the beautiful ocean waters of Kwajalein in an attempt to round up the winning categories in the Kwajalein Atoll International Sportfishing Club's Wahoo-Mahi Round Up Fishing Derby.

A total of 13 teams participated in the tournament. In addition to entry fees the teams paid to get into the derby, KAISC also contributed $1,000 toward the event, kicking the total prize monies purse up to $2,300.

With no winning mahi-mahi caught in the derby, team Fish On 1, with Captain Tony Janoski and crew Gary Bohning, Syed Ali, Jay Newsom and David Shimaoka, took the prize for bringing in the heaviest aggregate weight, 118.5 pounds of fish. The team will be awarded $1,100 for its winning catch.

Team Nalu Sportsfishing, with Captain Jon Mitchell and crew Adam Vail, Don Muse and Greg Spock, will also be awarded $100 for landing the smallest fish in the derby, a 3.4-pound cawa-cawa.

It was another fun and successful fishing event: the weather was perfect, and all teams brought in fish.

KAISC thanks everyone who participated in the derby.

In Memoriam: Kathleen Kay Campbell

HOURGLASS REPORTS

June 10, 1946, passed away at her home in Portland, Oregon, on Feb. 7, 2015, after a brief illness which cut her life abruptly short.

Campbell was a well-known, longtime Kwajalein resident of 33 years, from 1975 until her departure in December 2008. She enjoyed a long and rewarding career and life at Kwaj that brought her dear to the heart of many of the islands residents, former residents and local islanders.

Campbell's life on Kwajalein was an accident of fate. While completing Air Force Reserve Military service to air-evacuate wounded soldiers from China Beach to the U.S. during the Vietnam War, Campbell's aircraft incurred an in-flight malfunction which proved fortuitous. The emergency landing required her aircraft to set down on Kwajalein. The forced stranding was a turning point in the young nurse's life.

Campbell subsequently relocated and became an essential mainstay of the small Kwajalein Hospital staff working in all areas: ER, clinic, pediatrics, obstetrics and in-patient care. She later trained at Tripler Army Hospital to become an operating room scrub and circulating nurse.

In her later years at Kwajalein Hospital, Campbell was tasked with creating an Occupational Health Department. It was for this role and her kind, caring interactions with each employee that Campbell is perhaps most recently remembered. In this she truly excelled, achieving national specialty nursing certification, working with supervisors, marine boat captains and assisting individual employees to meet and pass stringent physical exam requirements necessary to maintain their employment.

Despite sometimes working six days a week or more, Campbell found time to learn scuba diving, Hawaiian quilting and needlepoint. She became an admired gardener and the Yokwe Yuk Woman's Club Micronesian Handicraft Shop's long-time shell buyer. Some of Campbell's favorite activities involved diving on the numerous historical WWII shipwrecks, reef diving to collect tropical fish to stock her aquarium, and finding vacant seashells for the numerous handicrafts she loved to create and give as gifts and sell at the local craft fairs. During her time at Kwajalein, Campbell sailed and traveled to many of the remote outer island atolls and became friends with the outer islanders during her travels. Campbell eventually became a lifelong friend and advocate to the Outer Island Sisters, supporting their work to educate the children of the outer islands. She and her friends regularly donated school supplies, sports equipment, tools and sent individually-crafted Christmas stockings brimming with wonderful gifts.

She was equally a friend and supporter of all animals and sea life and was well-known as a cat lover. In the 1990s when Bruno's Traveling Circus became stranded on Ebeye, it was Campbell who spearheaded a donation drive to purchase and import food for the elderly lion and hay for the bedraggled elephant. The latter of which was accidentally mistaken for a "giant rat" by some of the local native children who had never seen an elephant before and had no creature in mind to compare it to.

On Kwajalein, Campbell was well known for her kindness and truly exemplified a life of caring, which showed in all her interactions and unconditional friendships. She had a gift for making one and all feel included and cared about, regardless of his or her imperfections. She was humble, humorously self-depreciating and modest, yet quietly adventurous, mischievous. She will be remembered as a devoted loyal friend, a loving sister, aunt and as Great Aunt Kathy, or 'G.A.K.' Campbell never failed to put others first, and she was one of the most considerate and genuine of people. Her loss is deeply felt, and her memory will be cherished by all who knew her.

In short, Campbell was a true gem who will be greatly missed for a very, very long time.

We hope to see you there!

mil. Have your K-Badge, Military ID or TDY Badge number and personal email available for registration.

INTERESTED IN PLAYING racquetball? The facility is available on a cipher lock for your use! Call 51275 and register with the Recreation Office for the combination.

AVOID EATING FISH caught near the Coral Sands Beach and Facility 1060. The sand disturbance activity could increase the potential for Ciguatera poisoning. Questions? Call 51134.

ATTENTION RESIDENTS. USAG-KA requests your participation in filling out a survey related to the programs that Army Community Service can provide and that you would like the garrison make available to you. Please access the survey by accessing the following link: http://www.armymwr.com/ACS-survey/.

E-TALK: Ciguatera is caused by eating certain reef fish contaminated with dinoflagellates toxins. Symptoms include nausea, pain, cardiac and neurological symptoms. The toxin is odorless and tasteless, and it is not destroyed by cooking.

SAFELY SPEAKING: Line of fire is a situation in which a worker places his or her body in the direct path of a serious hazard. More often than not, it's an individual's hands that are often in the line of fire—something we don't even think about.

Do not touch, move or disturb the object. Carefully leave the area.

REPORT – Take note of location (GPS coordinates if available), size (compare to common items like a football or scuba cylinder), and condition (metal, rusted, leaking).

• Boating: For UXO or potentially hazardous objects at or near the surface, radio the Small Boat Marina or Harbor Control. Provide the location where the suspect object was seen, including GPS coordinates. Provide whether it is on the surface or sub-surface. Keep descriptions brief (the radio is for communication) but provide a complete detail upon returning, or if asked by responders. The Small Boat Marina or Harbor Control will provide information to qualified responders. The qualified responders will determine the course of action.

- Diving: It is known that many potential UXO or other unknown hazards exist underwater, especially near sunken vessels. Follow the three Rs. If you should observe any UXO or other unknown hazards that pose a risk to others, notify KPD at 54445 or EOD at 51433. The qualified responders will determine the course of action.
 - Snorkeling: It is known that many potential UXO or other unknown hazards exist underwater; occasionally these hazards wash ashore or roll in the surf zone. Follow the three Rs. If you should observe any UXO or other unknown hazards ashore, near shore or in the surf zone, notify KPD at 54445 or EOD at 51433. The qualified responders will determine the course of action.

Do not bring an unknown object back to the Small Boat Marina. If for some reason you end up with UXO or an unknown hazard on your boat, report it to the Marina ahead of time and proceed directly to the BSR ramp to dock.

IMCOM-P acting director visits Kwajalein Atoll

Gregory Kuhr, acting director for Installation Management Command Pacific, visited U.S. Army Garrison-Kwajalein Atoll Feb. 19-20. He met with active duty military members and federal civil service employees in a roundtable meeting, in which he addressed topics impacting the garrison, ranging from personnel manning issues, facilities and infrastructure, to morale and welfare programs. He visited many of the garrison facilities, both on Kwajalein and Roi-Namur, with an added stop at Ebeye where he toured the hospital, water treatment plant, public schools. He even stopped to chat with the U.S. Navy Seabees tutoring high school students on mathematics and English in preparation for the Armed Services Vocational and Battery exam.
