SMDC GENERAL VISITS USAG-KA

BY JESSICA DAMBRUCH

Lt. Gen. James Dickinson, commanding general of U.S. Army Space and Missile Defense Command/Army Forces Strategic Command, joined personnel from U.S. Army Garrison-Kwajalein Atoll and the Director of Public Works to tour and inspect construction and renovation sites around the garrison community.

The general’s visit was part of an initiative led by senior U.S. military leaders in spring 2019 to address reported concerns about the quality and safety of military housing. Army-wide leaders visited quarters on bases and garrisons throughout the nation to review firsthand the domiciles and maintenance plans in place to assure that homes remain safe for occupancy.

On USAG-KA, Dickinson received a briefing on the status of the garrison’s construction schedule before embarking on a windshield tour of the sites with US-

AG-KA Commander Col. James DeOre, Command Sgt. Maj. Kenyatta Gaskins, Director of Public Works James Heidle, and Shawn Shelton, DPW engineer and master planner.

The first stop for the delegation was in historic “Navy housing,” erected in the 1950s and ‘60s, now occupied by active duty military and Department of Defense civilian personnel. Dickinson met with family members in the homes and viewed improvements made to those homes. According to Heidle, the maintenance issues addressed in the homes ranged from electrical work to HVAC upkeep, to patching of interior domicile ceiling cracks and concrete spalling due to a buildup of salt, moisture and rust.

Moving forward with the USAG-KA upkeep plan, DPW has added regular maintenance processes such as grading property around a domicile to allow soil to drain rainwater. DPW staff are also reviewing the process for ordering materials to restore and maintain older structures.

“We are listening to what our customers are saying,” said Shelton. “We are working to get the reordering points for materials like air filters and light bulbs where they need to be to complete repairs on time.”

Improvements to the Garrison

The team viewed sites for future construction around USAG-KA, to include the Bucholz Army Airfield airstrip and air operations building, the site of a future ambulatory care clinic, and North Point Army housing area scheduled to be demolished.

U.S. Army Corps of Engineers Project Manager Kara Larson, Echo Pier Project Engineer Richard Zaragoza and San Juan Construction Project Manager Donald Stevens met with Dickinson at the pier to deliver a status report of the ongoing pier repair and restoration process.

After that, it was off to the west end of

THE KWAJALEIN HOURGLASS

The Kwajalein Hourglass is named for the insignia of the U.S. Army’s 7th Infantry Division, which liberated the island from the forces of Imperial Japan on Feb. 4, 1944.

The Kwajalein Hourglass is an authorized publication for military personnel, federal employees, contractor workers and their families assigned to U.S. Army Garrison-Kwajalein Atoll.

Contents of the Hourglass are not necessarily official views of, or endorsed by, the U.S. Government, Department of Defense, Department of the Army or USAG-KA. It is published Saturdays in accordance with Army Regulation 360-1. Phone: Defense Switching Network 254-3539 Local phone: 5-9205

The Future For USAG-KA DPW Construction

Heidle says in the next five to 10 years, garrison residents can expect big changes, as DPW gives the island a facelift.

“Realistically, we are looking at a lot of future construction,” he said.

The garrison plans to add new living quarters and a new clinic, renovate homes and install a seawater air conditioning system that will augment traditional HVAC systems with renewable energy technology. New outdoor spaces for recreational activities and service roads are also on their way.

“My favorite projects are community-based,” said Heidle. “We recently demolished the skate park, handball court and Richardson Theater projection booth for life, health and safety issues. We are actively seeking suggestions for something for families and kids. ... For me to see the projects come to fruition and be awarded—that’s where I get my satisfaction.”

Heidle credits his team of five engineers, USACE, support from on-island contractors and the team of more than 250 local nationals working on the project with its success. He reminds the community to be mindful of traffic stops and to adhere to all upcoming road closures for safety while traveling the island.

“You’re not going to many other places in the DOD and have this volume of construction work going on,” Shelton said. “We share everyone’s responsibilities. We’re master planners, engineering services, the operations and maintenance. We’re all handling things to accomplish support for the customer.”

Larson credits that sharing of responsibility as a reward in itself. “Every project is a learning experience,” said Larson. “As the project manager for the Echo Pier project, I am learning so much about marine construction.”

Garrison residents can look forward to the changing face of Kwajalein. “In 10 years, Kwajalein will look like a new place, as we upgrade major environmental systems, quarters and buildings,” said Heidle. “Current and near-term projects are expected to meet or exceed construction levels from the ‘50s.”

DADDY DAUGHTER DANCE 2019

BY JESSICA DAMBRUCH

Kwaj dads and daughters were in for a night of good food and fun at the Daddy Daughter Dance May 19. The event, sponsored by the Kwajalein School System Parent Teacher Organization, was a free event to give dads and daughters a night out on the town. This year's event was a success because of a winning combination of volunteerism in the community.

"It all started with a message and it grew from there," said event decorator and co-organizer Kara Larson. "I felt a calling to help out, even though I don't have children. I believe people want to help, especially in areas of their passion and strengths; I am one of those people."

The event was set to be cancelled until Kara Larson, Carla Warren, Misti French and a host of island volunteers stepped up to answer the call to service. Volunteers provided food, decorations, a fun and formal photo booth—all free of charge.

"Four diverse women came together to form a committee," said Larson. "We all have different strengths and knowledge which worked to this event's advantage.

We bounced ideas off each other and brainstormed together."

Dads and daughters from Kwajalein and Ebeye visited the photo booths to get a shot in their finest formalwear before visiting a buffet of fish tacos and desserts, complete with a chocolate fountain. Kwajalein DJ Neil Dye provided music and entertainment for the evening with a limbo and hula hoop contest.

"This event could never have been as successful as it was if it wasn't for the many volunteers that helped set up, volunteered during the dance and tore down and cleaned after the event," said Larson. "The collaboration, creativity and team work was amazing. It made for a great experience for the committee. The best feeling is seeing everyone have a great time."

For the volunteers, the event was as fun for them as it was for the fathers and daughters in attendance.

"My daughter Marina and I would like to thank the entire volunteer team that made the 2019 Annual Daddy Daughter dance, the wildly fun time that it was," wrote Dave Dethlefsen to The Kwajalein Hourglass.

"Our gratitude stems from the bottom of our shoes because, let's face it, the bottom of our hearts just isn't deep enough. This was the last time that we can participate in the dance on Kwajalein, as Marina will be beyond the age and grade limit. So this event carried extra significance for us. ... We are so thankful for these outstanding community members heading up the inspiring volunteer effort to ensure that our daughters (and dads alike) got to experience the true joy that is the dance. They were able to round up so many like-minded community volunteers to put on an event that would not have happened otherwise. ... It brings me great joy to know that our sense of community and camaraderie still flourishes in these trying times.

"Marina told me this was her favorite dance of all the years she has attended. I suppose it being her last dance made it all the more sentimental for her. A huge thank you to all the volunteers; those providing food, working the kitchen, bussing the areas, working the photo booths, setting up, tearing down, cleaning and everything in between. You made an event memorable for not only me and my daughter, but for so many others in our Kwajalein community."

WHAT YOU NEED TO KNOW ABOUT THE KWAJALEIN HOURGLASS AND AFN ROLLER

PUBLIC NOTICE

Need to get a message out to the community? You have options! Read on for tips about sending announcements to The Kwajalein Hourglass and AFN roller channel.

The Kwajalein Hourglass

kwajaleinhourglass@dyn-intl.com

The Kwajalein Hourglass is a digital publication distributed each week via the USAG-KA Facebook page. Announcements and event ads may be published in the Community Classifieds section. All content is reviewed by the USAG-KA public affairs officer. Submit content for publication by Wednesdays.

Hourglass Guidelines

The Kwajalein Hourglass runs quarter and half-page ads for on-island events. Please send your information as .jpg, .png or .ppt files (please, no .PDF files). Modest adjustments to style and spacing may be made to ads. If you need an ad adjusted (for example, there is a change in time or venue), please send a revised ad to kwajaleinhourglass@dyn-intl.com.

The AFN Roller Channel

Submissions for announcements, events, activities and PSAs to the televised AFN roller channel are welcome. The roller is updated at least twice per week, usually on Tuesday-Wednesdays and Saturdays. Priority messages appear on the roller on a more immediate basis. For more information on the roller please contact Jordan Vinson at 5-2114 or at kwajafnroller@dyn-intl.com

Formatting Tips for AFN Roller PowerPoint Messages

Slides should include a point of contact, relevant dates and a timeframe for the announcement. The following guidelines are recommended:

- Use font size 24 or higher
- Format the slide as a square
- Keep your message simple
- Simple graphics are welcome

Know the Army Reg?

AFN is unable to publish notices promoting for-profit activities or fundraising events without clearance from USAG-KA Command. For more information, please contact USAG-KA Public Affairs Officer Mike Brantley at 5-4848.

Quitting smoking takes preparation and planning

There are a number of things you can do to improve your chances of succeeding.

Tips to Stop Smoking

- Decide to quit: Write down your reasons for quitting.
- Set a quit date and ask for support: Call the national toll-free quit line, speak to your doctor and inform your family and friends.
- Formulate a quit plan: Strategies may involve medication, nicotine replacement, online, apps, telephone and in-person support etc.
- Deal with withdrawal: Cravings are normal. Pre-plan ways to cope.
- Stay quit: It may take several attempts, don't give up!
