USAG-KA NEWS

USAG-KA Command Sgt. Maj. Ismael Ortega encounters a Kwaj resident in an inflatable dinosaur suit at the USAG-KA town hall, March 25.

DINOSAUR INTERVENTION AT USAG-KA TOWN HALL

BY JESSICA DAMBRUCH

Kwajalein residents waiting for news about quarantine at the USAG-KA town hall March 25 had to wait a little longer, after an island resident dressed in an inflatable Tyrannosaurus Rex costume interrupted the event.

USAG-KA Command Sgt. Maj. Ismael Ortega paused in his introductory address, thanking the audience for their perseverance and good behavior, and stared the dinosaur down.

After a few perfunctory hops—it must be difficult to communicate in a dinosaur suit—the inflated invader cleared the Island Memorial Chapel and the town hall proceeded as planned. The dinosaur was reportedly last seen by a Kwajalein Fire-fighter riding a bike away from the chapel down Ocean Road toward Army Family Housing.

“I feel kind of bad about the guy running off like that,” said Ortega following the incident. “I mean, a T-Rex has really little arms. He could have been trying to raise his hand to ask a question. It’s hard to say.”

The Kwajalein Police Department is looking for information regarding the disruption of an official Army event.

Please contact Security and Access Control Contract at 5-4445 with any details.

NEW, EASY OPTIONS FOR ISLAND WI-FI BILLING

Payments for residential access to the island’s new wireless hotspots will now be rolled into your monthly island telephone bill. Beginning in May 2021, island residents will begin paying an additional $20 each month to cover the new service.

Want to pay in advance, or separately? Online accounts can be set up through <https://www.kwajbilling.com/wifi>. Questions, please contact the Office of Wi-Finance at 5-5555.

THE KWAJALEIN HOURGLASS

The Kwajalein Hourglass is named for the insignia of the U.S. Army’s 7th Infantry Division, which liberated the island from the forces of Imperial Japan on Feb. 4, 1944.

The Kwajalein Hourglass is an authorized publication for military personnel, federal employees, contractor workers and their families assigned to U.S. Army Garrison-Kwajalein Atoll.

Contents of the Hourglass are not necessarily official views of, or endorsed by, the U.S. Government, Department of Defense, Department of the Army or USAG-KA. It is published Saturdays in accordance with Army Regulation 360-1.

ANOTHER CRYPTO COIN DEBUTS

BY JORDAN VINSON

Move over Shiba Inu puppies—it’s time for humanity’s beloved, long-tailed rodent friends to grace the banner of a hot, new, seemingly unviable crypto currency.

Ratcoin became tradable Tuesday on select crypto exchanges and joins the ranks of the more than 4,000 crypto currencies currently in existence. It draws inspiration from similar digital assets like Whoofcoin and BartelFusionPlus. Notably, there is no cap to the number of Ratcoins that miners can create, and a native wallet, Ratwallet, is available for traders to securely store their Ratcoins.

The crypto network’s secretive creator envisioned the currency as a hyper local means to digitally pay for goods and services on Roi, like meals at Café Roi or the Roi Surfway. Convincing local stores to accept the crypto at points of sale was a big break, the Ratcoin creator stated in an unsigned email to the Hourglass.

“Getting those checkouts online was huge. And it just shows that so many people are just tired of carrying their wallets and purses around with them,” the Ratcoin developer stated. “If I’m wearing my boardshorts, I can carry either a phone or a wallet. And I need my phone for the GameStonk memes.”

While Ratcoin’s blockchain network, like other cryptos, is purely open source, the identity of the coin’s creator remains a mystery. There is some credibility to the claim that the creator is one of the original RCA software engineers who moved to Roi in 1961 to help operate the TRADEX radar—but then never left, having locked himself inside the facility’s secure klystron wing sometime after, presumably the day Ronald Reagan’s presidency ended.

“I heard this old dude just lives in there with like thousands of rats,” said Dan Gunter, a Roi resident. “I bet Ratcoin is his, and he lives like Splinter in Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles. And the rats are like little Splinters, because they’re rats.”

Regardless of the lore surrounding the digital asset’s creator, Ratcoin is here to stay, wrote exchange analysts on Wall Street Thursday. Each coin was trading at the time at a value of $0.003 to the U.S. dollar, with a total market capitalization of roughly a used Kwaj bike.

BIOMETRIC LOCKS COMING TO KWAJ POST OFFICE

BY JESSICA DAMBRUCH

The Kwajalein post office will receive new doors and a new failsafe personal security mechanism that will replace the traditional dial locks: fingerprint readers.

Installation Management Command provided funding for the upcoming security upgrade. Instead of trying to remember a combination, post office patrons can simply depress a touch-sensitive pad with their index finger to access their letter mail.

“This upgrade is going to be fantastic,” said Staff Sgt. Samuel Smith, in an interview with the Kwajalein Hourglass before PCSing last month. “So many times, corrosion on the outside of the mailbox makes the doors and locks very difficult to open. The new system will provide a more secure and safer method to keep mail items secure.”

Postal staff members agreed.

“The time lost at the mail window when a patron asks us to open their box adds up,” said one employee, who asked not to be named in this article.

He added: “Through no fault of their own, post office patrons have had to deal with the frustration of rusted boxes.”

Customers whose mailbox windows face the street have reported fewer difficulties than those who use windward boxes.

“I regularly have to pry my mailbox open with my room key,” said Craig Jones, a newcomer. “It’s like—it’s my mail, right? I shouldn’t need a crowbar to get my mail.”

Hardware upgrades are expected to begin in early June 2021, during which time boxes affected by the changeover to fingerprint locks will need to collect letter mail and parcel notes at the post office service desk.

For more information concerning the changeover, please contact the USAG-KA Public Affairs Office at 5-4848.

RMI BANS IMPORTED TOBACCO PRODUCTS

BY JESSICA DAMBRUCH

Nations in the Central Pacific region have led the way in recent months toward a healthier climate. Now, the Republic of the Marshall Islands has taken the extra step to extend that same level of care toward its citizens and residents.

This week, the RMI Ministry of Trade and Finance has announced a ban on the importation of tobacco products. Beginning June 1, cigarettes, cigars, chewing tobacco and other nicotine-based products will no longer be sold in the RMI—and that includes USAG-KA.

“Smoking is a personal choice, but personal health is a priority for our nation and everyone living here,” said a spokesperson in a report issued last week. “In the past year, Covid-19 has helped us all look at our long-term health goals. As we move toward a healthier Marshall Islands, we need to help each other move toward healthier life choices.”

Similar to the 2019 ban on Styrofoam, disposable plastic utensils and plastic shopper bags adopted by the Federated States of Micronesia and the RMI, the ban on tobacco products will occur in a phased roll-out.

Tobacco products will be available for sale on USAG-KA until the ban goes into effect, said an AAFES representative in an email to the Kwajalein Hourglass.

Read more about the tobacco ban online at the RMI Ministry of Health and Human Services Humor Facebook page.

TEAMWORK HELPS RTS EMPLOYEES STAY HYDRATED

BY JESSICA DAMBRUCH

In an unparalleled feat of teamwork spanning generations of Kwajalein residents and employees at the Ronald Reagan Ballistic Missile Defense Test Site, members of the Kwajalein community have banded together to crowdfund a hydration solution at dedicated water sources inside RTS headquarters on U.S. Army Garrison-Kwajalein Atoll following results announced from a water testing report issued in August 2020.

In the course of routine flavor testing at three of the island's flavored beverage dispenser taps, results bore trace amounts of Kool-Aid deemed too weak for human consumption per Army Regulation. Since that time, the Army and contract partners on island have taken steps to preserve the life, health and tastebuds of island residents by posting warning signs throughout RTS.

"They posted signs next to the sinks inside Building 1010, in English and Marshallese" said Ashley Smith, a clerk at RTS, of the safety measures. "They all indicated that we shouldn't drink the Kool-Aid, and some of us received an email indicating we should not use certain taps due to the 'shy flavor' of the Kool-Aid. Oh yeah: I was grateful they acted fast."

Following the announcement, the water issue was presented to the community at a USAG-KA town hall in January.

As of the March 25 town hall, action pursuant to the issue has not been announced by the USAG-KA Department of Public Works. As Army partners work toward a solution, one thing is certain: The range community likes Kool-Aid.

"I work the night shift, and all I want is one cup of Kool-Aid, but I don't want to drink Kool-Aid that tastes like expired lip balm," said one employee, who asked not to be named for this article.

In recent weeks, several island residents applied a crowdfunding solution to their water issue using Kickstarter.com. The site contains a message informing potential donors of the chance to contribute to the project.

"Please help us support the Army mission on Kwajalein with better-tasting Kool-Aid," reads the introductory message on the website.

Donors are able to contribute up to $250 toward the $5,000 initial goal to purchase Kool-Aid dispensers for "at least one dedicated water source on each floor of the building, accessible to both men and women."

Donors on the site appear to be from both on- and off-island. Last week, discussion over social media indicated that private organizations on Kwajalein might donate a portion of their club funds to support the project.

"I was a safety manager on island back when we called 'RTS' the Kwajalein Missile Range," reads a post by one anonymous donor. "I love Kwajalein and want to help the good people at 1010. They shouldn't have to deal with weak Kool-Aid."

In addition to the crowdfunding initiative, to get their sugary drink fix, some employees have resorted to purchasing sizable quantities of canned soft drinks, bottled juice and energy drinks from AAFES. Some have reportedly purchased more than $100 of bottled water over the past months to mix their own Kool-Aid in pitchers easily shared by multiple members of an office suite.

The shopping splurge has been discouraged with enforcement of a one-per-customer rule at AAFES points of sale.

"People," said an AAFES spokesperson in a statement issued last week. "I'm sorry about the Kool-Aid. I love it, too. In the 1980s, that's all I drank. But all the soft drinks in the world won't replace it—so, it's one per customer, capiche?"

In at least one restroom in Building 1010, someone has installed a personal Kool-Aid dispenser at a sink to doubly ensure that the Kool-Aid mix available is up to par, until repairs to the building's Kool-Aid flavoring system are announced.

Some have logged reports through ArMA, the Army's online maintenance system, said one island resident. For now, thanks to teamwork from the Kwajalein community, a Kool-Aid solution seems to be emerging at RTS headquarters.

 The Army does not officially endorse Kool-Aid or any crowdfunding activities on kickstarter.com.

KWAJ WATER TOWER PAINTING PROJECT RESCHEDULED FOR 2022

BY JESSICA DAMBRUCH

Why David Hasselhoff hasn't made an appearance on Kwajalein yet is anyone's guess, but chances are good he's just been delayed.

It's been one year since The Kwajalein Hourglass announced the winners of the water tower mural project, and inquiring island residents want to know: What's going on with the painting?

It should come as no surprise that the answer can be summed up as yet another delay due to Covid-19. Due to the changing flight schedule and changes to USAG-KA's budget for the year, funding allocated to finance the painting was reallocated to suit immediate, mission-critical needs, a DPW spokesperson said. The project has been rescheduled for 2022.

Kwajalein residents Caitlin Gilbertson, Jordan Vinson and Jeffery Robinson submitted their winning design of the beloved "Bay Watch" icon for the contest, an island beautification initiative sponsored by MWR, Installation Management Command, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and USAG-KA Command.

"I must say—it's not what I would have picked," said USAG-KA Commander Col. Jeremy Bartel, "nor what I would have expected to win. But Kwajalein liked it, so we're moving forward with the plan to put a little paint on the property."

The design shows Hasselhoff with his signature curly coif, bearing his red lifeguard flotation device. In the drawing, rendered by Vinson, "The Hoff" gazes thoughtfully down at the front door of the Capt. Louis S. Zamperini Cafeteria.

"I feel so much safer knowing The Hoff is looking out for me," said Vinson of the planned design, in an interview last year.

NEW SHARK SPECIES IDENTIFIED

BY JORDAN VINSON

This Pacific bubble nose shark was photographed by Katerina Castores March 25 in waters just off Emon Beach at Kwajalein.

Known also for its distinct set of five vertical gills running equidistant between its pectoral and dorsal fins, the bubble nose gets its name from the pressurized stream of air it exhales through its nose.

This feature makes the bubble nose a one-of-a-kind fish: According to the International Union for the Conservation of Nature, it's the only shark known to science to respire through its nostrils (called nares in biology). Capturing the bubble nose on camera is almost as rare. Reports of the species have been made throughout the western and central Pacific, from Saipan to Kiribati, but only a few photos have ever emerged.

"I honestly didn't even know what kind of shark I was looking at," said Castores, the photographer. "I had never seen one before. Sure was a big cutie."

COVID-19 VACCINATIONS ARE NOW IN PROGRESS.

Contact your tenant organization and Human Resources department for an information packet on the vaccine, and forms you need to have pre-filled before your date and time slot. Your organization will notify you of your time slot.

Still have questions about getting the COVID-19 vaccine? Contact USAG-KA Family and MWR Health Systems Specialist Suzanne Mosier at 5-2354 for more information.

OUTBOUND COVID TEST POLICY CHANGE

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention released new travel guidance. The information that follows is current as of Jan. 30.

- A COVID-19 test is not required for any outbound travelers on the ATI.
- A COVID-19 test is not required if you are flying on United Airlines on official government orders.
- All other United Airlines passengers must have a negative COVID-19 test 1-3 days before travel.

If You Need A Test

You must contact the hospital at 5-2223 to schedule a time for your test. The Kwajalein Hospital is closed Sunday and Monday.

The cost of the COVID-19 test is $125, due at the time of visit for everyone except for active duty service members and their family members. Cash, credit card and check are accepted forms of payment.

If you have previously tested positive for COVID-19 you must schedule an appointment with a provider 10 days prior to departure.

Passengers must bring a copy of their United flight itineraries at the time of their appointment for proof of flight.

For Outbound United Airlines Passengers Flying Without Government Orders

- Passengers will visit the hospital the day before their flight departs.
- Testing hours: 9 - 11 a.m.
- Results pick-up time is flexible on the day of departure.

These CDC requirements do not change or impact the state of Hawaii's testing requirement or quarantine procedure.

UNITED AIRLINES POLICIES FOR DEPARTURE

Customers at Kwajalein's airport boarding United Airlines flights need to present the items described below:

Customers with a negative test result need to present written or electronic documentation which clearly indicates:

- Customer name. (The customer name and any other personal identifiers must match the customer ID).
- Date the test was taken. Test must be taken within three calendar days of flight.
- Type of test. The CDC rule requires a viral test, which means a molecular COVID-19 test (such as PCR or LAMP) or antigen test.
- Results must state "negative," "SARS-CoV-2 RNA not detected" or "SARS-CoV-2 antigen not detected." A test marked "invalid" is not acceptable

Customers who have previously tested positive must present written or electronic documentation, dated within the last 90 days, of recovery from COVID-19 after previous infection.

This should be in the form of a positive viral test result and a letter on official letterhead that contains the name, address and phone number of a licensed healthcare provider or public health official stating that the passenger has been cleared for travel.

All United customers must also comply with the following requirements:

- Presentation of a disclosure and attestation form. The form can be found on the CDC website and will also be available at the departure airport. Customers are encouraged to print and complete the form prior to arriving at the airport.
- Check-In. All international originating customers will be required to check-in with a Customer Service representative to verify digital or paper documentation. This mirrors the process we've set up within the U.S. for many international destinations.
- Failure to Comply Will Result in Boarding Denied. Customers who do not show proof of a test or refuse to test prior to travel will be denied boarding. Denied boarding compensation will not be paid. Customers in this situation shall be offered a refund or rebooked for a later date at no additional charge.

NOTE: These documentation requirements do not apply to customers flying from U.S. territories such as Guam to the mainland.

KWAJALEIN - YUK THEATER

Saturday, April 3
"Gifted" (PG-13) 104 min.
Chris Evans,
McKenna Grace

Frank Adler (Chris Evans) is a single man raising a child prodigy—his spirited young niece Mary—in a coastal town in Florida. Frank's plans for a normal school life for Mary are foiled when the 7-year-old's mathematical abilities come to the attention of Frank's formidable mother, Evelyn, whose plans for her granddaughter threaten to separate Frank and Mary.

Sunday, April 4
"Christopher Robin" (PG) 105 min.
Ewan McGregor, Hayley Atwell

Christopher Robin -- now a family man living in London—receives a surprise visit from his old childhood pal, Winnie-the-Pooh. With Christopher's help, Pooh embarks on a journey to find his friends—Tigger, Eeyore, Owl, Piglet, Rabbit, Kanga and Roo. Once reunited, the lovable bear and the gang travel to the big city to help Christopher rediscover the joy of life.

Monday, April 5
"The Way Back" (R) 108 min.

Jack Cunningham, Janina Gavankar
Jack Cunningham was a high school basketball superstar who suddenly walked away from the game for unknown reasons. Years later, he's now stuck in a meaningless job and struggling with alcoholism—the very thing that ruined his marriage and his hope for a better life. But Jack soon gets a shot at redemption when he becomes the basketball coach for his alma mater, a program that has fallen on hard times since his teenage glory days.

Saturday, April 10
"Show Dogs" (PG) 92 min.
Ludacris, Stanley Tucci

After a failed attempt to recover a stolen baby panda, police dog Max reluctantly teams up with a human FBI agent named Frank. A hot tip leads Max and Frank to Las Vegas for the world's most exclusive dog show. To find the panda, Max goes undercover as a contestant to get the lowdown from his fellow canines. With help from their new friends, the crime-fighting duo must now foil another kidnapping plot and rescue other valuable animals from a gang of greedy smugglers.

Sunday, April 11

"Wonder Woman 1984" (PG-13) 151 min.

Gal Gadot, Kristen Wiig
Diana Prince lives quietly

among mortals in the vibrant, sleek 1980s—an era of excess driven by the pursuit of having it all. Though she's come into her full powers, she maintains a low profile by curating ancient artifacts, and only performing heroic acts incognito. But soon, Diana will have to muster all of her strength, wisdom and courage as she finds herself squaring off against Maxwell Lord and the Cheetah, a villainess who possesses superhuman strength and agility.

Monday, April 12
"Judas and the Black Messiah" (R) 126 min.

Daniel Kaluuya, LaKeith Stanfield
Offered a plea deal by the FBI, William O'Neal infiltrates the Illinois chapter of the Black Panther Party to gather intelligence on Chairman Fred Hampton.

ROI-NAMUR, C-building

Saturday, April 3
"Monster Hunter" (PG-13) 103 min.
Milla Jovovich, Tonay Jaa

Behind our world, there is another—a world of dangerous and powerful monsters that rule their domain with deadly ferocity. When Lt. Artemis and her loyal soldiers are transported from our world to the new one, the unflappable lieutenant receives the shock of her life. In a desperate battle for survival against enormous enemies with incredible powers and unstoppable, terrifying attacks, Artemis teams up with a mysterious hunter who has found a way to fight back.

Sunday, April 4
"12 Strong" (R) 129 min.

Chris Hemsworth, Michael Shannon

In the wake of the 9/11 attacks, Captain Mitch Nelson leads a US Special Forces team into Afghanistan for an extremely dangerous mission. Once there, the soldiers develop an uneasy partnership with the Northern Alliance to take down the Taliban and its al-Qaida allies. Outgunned and outnumbered, Nelson and his forces face overwhelming odds in a fight against a ruthless enemy that takes no prisoners.

WHAT THE CRITICS ARE SAYING

On "Monster Hunter": As video game-based movies go, this isn't the worst, because spouses Anderson and Jovovich know what they're doing—but it's still a forgettable compilation of violent CGI effects.
—Sandie Angulo Chen, Common Sense Media

On "12 Strong": The story of the first Special Forces team deployed to Afghanistan after 9/11; under the leadership of a new captain, the team must work with an Afghan warlord to take down the Taliban.
—David Edelstein, Vulture

On "Gifted": A young math prodigy and her strong bond with her uncle are tested when a debate arises over whether to cultivate her abilities or let her be a child.
—Nicole Herrington, The NYTimes

On "Christopher Robin": It won't make you love the silly old(er) bear any less, but you can feel a tiny part of your childhood dying in the process.
—Peter Debruge, Variety

On "The Way Back": Taken on its own terms, the film is beautifully crafted, a sequence of events, many of them stirring, along a road to redemption.
—Joe Morgenstern, Wall Street Journal

On "Show Dogs": In Raja Gosnell's canine comedy, a Rottweiler teams up with a human crime-fighting partner to thwart an international animal smuggling ring. —Teo Bugbee, The NY-Times

On "Wonder Woman 1984": Campier and less revolutionary than the original, this long but entertaining sequel still shows the many ways women can be strong, heroic, and smart. —Sandie Angulo Chen, Common Sense Media

On "Judas and the Black Messiah": Judas and the Black Messiah is, on one level, a historical drama. On another, it's a movie very much of the moment.
—Paul Asay, Plugged In

USAG-KA WEATHER WATCH

RTS WEATHER STATION STAFF

SUN - MOON - TIDES

WEATHER DISCUSSION: Over the next few days, weak waves within moderate trades, combining with moist mid-level flow, will produce occasional shower activity over Kwajalein.
Upper-level divergence could support a thunderstorm or two over the area. Any deep convection could bring the risk of stronger wind gusts.
Prevailing winds should decrease on Monday and into the middle of next week as the subtropical ridge weakens. Next week should also see a general decrease in shower cover-age.

SATURDAY and SUNDAY: Mostly cloudy, partly sunny at times. Widely scattered showers and a stray thunderstorm possible. Winds ENE-ESE at 11-18 knots with occasional higher gusts.

MONDAY: Mostly cloudy, partly sunny at times. Widely scattered showers and a stray thunder-storm possible. Winds NE-E at 6-12 knots with occasional higher gusts.

TUESDAY through THURSDAY: Partly sunny with isolated to widely scattered showers. Winds NE-SE at 5-15 knots.
